CRITICISES DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

We copy the following from the speech delivered in Chicago, last Saturday night, by William J. Bryan, in opposition to the New York Democratic Platform:

"As it is somewhat unusual for a political speech to be made as this one is tonight, let me preface my remarks with an explanation. I have hired this hall and I introduce myself because I do not care to speak under the auspices of any club or organization which is committed to any particular aspirant for office. My concern is not about the name or the personality of the nominee, but about the principles for which the democratic party is to stand. While many of the papers seem to assume that the contest for the democratic nomination is necessarily between James F. Smith and Mr. Hearst, and that every democrat must either be for one or the other, such a position is illogical and without foundation. Those who are classed as reorganizers—and by that I mean those who would carry the party back to the position that it occupied under Mr. Cleveland's administration—are not entirely agreed among themselves as to the proper candidates upon whom to concentrate their votes, and so those who are in sympathy with the spirit of our recent platform may differ as to the relative availability of those who represent the progressive element of the party. My own position is one of neutrality. I regard as available all candidates who are in favor of making the democratic party an honest, earnest and courageous exponent of the rights and interests of the masses and regard as unavailable all who are in sympathy with, or obligated to, the great corporations that today dominate the policy of the republican party and seek, through reorganizers, to dominate the policy of the democratic party. I have no favorites among those on either side and no special antagonism to those who represent the reorganizers. I believe that the lines should be drawn between principles, not between men, and that men should only be considered as they may be able to advance or retard the progress of the democracy.

"The New York platform is a dishonest platform, fit only for a dishonest party. No one but an artful dodger would stand upon it. The submission of such a platform to the voters of the state is an insult to their intelligence for it is intended to deceive them, and a deliberate attempt to deceive—especially so clumsy an attempt as this platform is—a reflection upon the brains of those to whom it is submitted.

"This platform proves that the opposition to the Kansas City platform is not opposition to silver, but opposition to every needed reform and opposition to all that the masses desire.

"I had expected that a platform prepared by Mr. Hearst and Judge Parker would be evasive and lacking in frankness, but I did not conceive that any body of men calling themselves democrats would present such a platform as a recommendation of a candidate. If we are to take the New York platform as an indication of what the next democratic platform is to be in case the reorganizers control the convention, then who will be able to deny the secret purpose of the reorganizers to turn the party over to predatory wealth? With such a platform and a candidate who would be willing to run upon it, the party could secure as large a campaign fund as the republican party has ever secured, but in securing it would, like the republican party, secretly pledge the administration to a construction of the platform satisfactory to the corporations and the combinations.

"Can any one doubt that with such a platform as was adopted in New York, and with a candidate whose conscience would permit him to run upon such a platform—does any one doubt that with such a platform and a candidate the party would be mortgaged beforehand to the corporations that are now using the government as a private asset and plundering the people at will.

"Congress has passed and the president has signed the bill extending the time for the building of the Omaha and Northern railroad across the Omaha and Winnebago reservations.

"Governor Mickey has issued a proclamation, setting aside May 31st as a day on which to celebrate the anniversary of the signing of the Kansas-Nebraska bill. The bill was signed by President Pierce on May 30th, 1854. As this date falls on Memorial Day, the following day was selected by the governor for the celebration of these bi-centennial of Nebraska's birth. The proclamation suggests that on the Friday preceding, exercises be held in all the schools and colleges, and that on the Sabbath preceding, the pastors make mention of the event.

"Last Thursday was the birthday of General Grant. It was the 82nd. It was also the birthday of Chancellor Huntington of the Nebraska Wesleyan University. We notice by the Lincoln Journal that on that day the Grand Army post presented a flag to the Wesleyan University. Rev. D. Marquet, an old Dakota City pastor, and later the presiding elder of this district, and a pioneer preacher of the state, made the presentation speech. Governor Mickey, as president of the board of trustees of the institution, accepted the same in some fitting remarks.

From John L. McKean. Tacoma, Wash., April 19, 1904.

Hon. John T. Spencer: Dear Sir and Friend:—Last evening, while clearing up my correspondence, I came across your letter, asking about the welfare of myself and babies, and why I had not written, as I promised, about my trip, and the country out here. I resolved that promise should not be as pie-crust, so here goes.

The trip out here was devoid of much interest, except the scenery and general characteristics of the country, which are a continual source of wonder to one raised on the plains. The country in western South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and eastern Washington, is very rough, and seems like the saying of the writer, who said: "It is a country on which some angry god has pined his seal." It is a barren, bleak, untillable waste, good for nothing but mining; but the scenery is magnificent. The sunrises and sunsets of that region remind one of the descriptions of the mountainous regions of the Tyrol in Europe.

From the Black Hills to the Yakima valley in central Washington, the country is such that one wonders how the people exist. At Yakima the irrigated section begins, and land is very valuable. Along the Green river—which is green in fact, as well as in name—the railroad runs in a deep canon, and the devious twists and curves of the stream allow the passengers splendid views of very beautiful scenery.

But the country is one vast forest. Great trees, hundreds of feet in height and from one to five feet in diameter, are so closely woven together that the daylight never penetrates their gloom. A hundred feet in the forest, and one is in pitchy darkness. The ground is always wet, as the rainfall is very great here, rain falling almost every day from October to April. Tacoma is built on a hill rising from Puget sound. It is about as high from one sound as four hills west of Homer, one on another. The business part of the city is about fifty feet above the sound, and the best residence portion of the city is about ten blocks up the hill, which is reached by a cable line. The city is very pretty now, as spring is just opening the buds and the trees are beginning to put on a verdure of green. All fall the weather was so damp that a view to any distance was impossible. When it was not raining it was foggy, but now the atmosphere is beginning to clear and good views of Mt. Tacoma are to be had almost every day. This famous mountain is sixty miles from Tacoma, yet it stands so high that it looks as if it were just on the outskirts of town. It is a wonderful example of eye-deception.

As to the weather out here, I am not disposed to say that it surpasses Nebraska. It is not so cold, but it is chilly and what we call in Nebraska, "raw," in the winter, and they say the summers are very dry. It is cool enough for an overcoat in the early morning, and at noon warm enough to go clad in a "Texas suit." Along about five o'clock it begins to get cool again. There is a cool sea breeze not catch cold here very often, but when he does he has to be careful of pneumonia—the great scourge of this country, along with typhoid fever.

I promised to let my friends know of the prospects here. If any of you people in Nebraska have any idea of coming here to make your "pile," my advice is, DON'T. If you have your pile made, all right, come ahead. The streets are filled with people who were brought here by the railroads, and I will venture to say that there are 20,000 men in Seattle and 10,000 in Tacoma, out of a job. Conditions must be understood. First, this is a grand agricultural country for small fruit, etc., but the land has to be cleared. The timber has been taken off of it, and vast stumps, three to five feet in diameter have to be grabbed out, and when done the labor has cost $150 per acre. There is no prairie land. Second, if one is a laboring man, it is a vital necessity that he belong to a labor union before he comes here, and then he must go to the foot of the mountain and wait for a job, with probably 300 or 300 applicants ahead of him. It is not so bad in the printing business, as there are fewer printers come out here, being posted through their national paper. I have had good work ever since I landed here, with the exception of two months that we were all laid up with typhoid fever. We get $4.00 per day and work from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

As soon as I can, I am going to locate in a small town near Portland, Oregon, and publish a paper. Give my best regards to all my friends, to the others, say nothing. Very truly, JOHN L. MCKEAN.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING CURED. Judge W. T. Holland of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by G. W. McBeath.

CURED LUMBAGO. A B Canman, Chicago, writes March 3, 1903: "Having been troubled with lumbago at different times and tried one physician after another; then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried one more and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of former sufferers." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by G. W. McBeath.

BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

NEBRASKAN SCORES PLATFORM OF NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

Declares It is Dishonest and Unfair—Points Out Its Defects, Says He Has No Favorite Candidate and Hints at Dark Horse.

In Chicago, before a crowd of people who filled the Second regiment armory until the police for safety reasons would permit no more to enter, William Jennings Bryan, twice the standard-bearer of the Democratic party in national campaigns, spoke his disapproval of David Bennett Hill, Judge Alton B. Parker and the recently adopted New York platform. Mr. Bryan had said he would not take sides with any particular candidate for the honor of carrying the banner of Democracy in the coming battle of national ballots, but he did not say he would not take sides against a particular candidate and he did not deviate from his expressed purpose; he did not take sides with any one, but he most decidedly took sides against Judge Parker et al.

"As it is somewhat unusual for a political speech to be made as this one is, let me preface my remarks with an explanation. I have hired this hall and I introduce myself because I do not care to speak under the auspices of any club or organization which is committed to any particular aspirant for office. My concern is not about the name or the personality of the nominee, but about the principles from which the Democratic party is to stand.

"Now that Mr. Parker seems to be the leading candidate (though not the only candidate among the reorganizers, I desire to present some reasons why he cannot be considered as available for a Democratic nomination and I find those reasons not in his personality, but in his position upon public institutions.

"For a year he has been urged to speak out and declare himself upon the important issues of the coming campaign, but he has remained silent. Whatever doubt may have existed on this subject heretofore has been dispelled by the platform adopted by the New York State convention and taking this platform as a test I am sanguine enough to believe that I can prove to every unbiased mind that Judge Parker is not a fit man to be nominated either by the Democratic party or by any other party that stands for honesty or fair dealing in politics. This platform can fairly be regarded as the declaration upon public questions and what does the platform say? It says before the committee of Congress endeavoring to secure three important measures. One is the arbitration of differences between corporations engaged in interstate commerce and their employees. Both the Chicago and Kansas city platforms declared in favor of arbitration, but the New York platform not only fails to refer to the arbitration plank of these platforms, but it fails to write a new plank covering this subject.

"No reference is made to the measure known as the Currency bill, which would issue $800,000,000 legal tender silver dollars to subsidize the business into opposition to tax reduction by loaning them the sum from the treasury. There is no condemnation of the corruption that such a system would lead to. The platform does not antagonize the proposition now before Congress to limit the amount of money in circulation. In other words, there is not a line in the platform that is written in behalf of the people; not a line that will excite criticism in Wall street.

"The platform ignores the income tax; it fails to indorse the election of Senators by direct vote, and also omits the plank of the Kansas City platform denouncing corporate domination in politics.

"The submission of such a platform to the voters of a State is an insult to their intelligence, for it is intended to deceive them.

"I had expected that a platform prepared by Mr. Hill for Judge Parker would be evasive and lacking in frankness, but I did not conceive that any body of men calling themselves Democrats would present such a platform as a recommendation of a candidate.

"No one can defend the Democratic party without defending its principles, and its principles ought to be so clearly set forth as to be easily understood. The New York platform is ambiguous, uncertain, evasive and dishonest. It would disgrace the Democrats of the nation to adopt such a platform and it ought to defeat as an aspirant for a Democratic nomination any man who would be willing to have it go forth as a declaration of his views on public questions. The reorganizers' scheme is a platform of the rank and file of the party. It is to be followed up by the debauching of the public with a campaign fund secured from the corporations and it is to be consummated by the betrayal of the party organization to the hands of those who are to-day menacing the liberties of the country by their exploitation of the producers of wealth."

MANY KILLED IN TORNADES.

Whole Families Wiped Out in Storms in the Southwest.

Twenty-six persons were killed and many injured by tornadoes that swept over the sections of the Southwest Monday. Dispatches show the following known casualties:

Table with columns: Name, Killed, Injured. Includes Fairland, I. T., Pryor Creek, I. T., Chebleton, I. T., Needmore, I. T., Clear Water, I. T., Sherrill, Ark., Pastoria, Ark., Monett, Mo., Monett, Texas.

Many homes and business blocks were wrecked and in several cases whole families were crushed to death in the ruins or maimed so they cannot recover. Half a dozen business blocks were destroyed at Fairland, I. T., where several persons were killed. Farther south, in the neighborhood of Pryor Creek, the storm swept clean everything in its path, demolishing farm houses, leveling crops and trees and killing stock. Residences were razed and their occupants either killed or seriously injured at Grand River and Flint Mills. The storm started near Chouteau, south of Pryor Creek, and traveled northwest, cutting a path from one-half to a mile wide and fully twenty miles long.

In Texas the worst damage was at Mount Vernon, where eleven houses were destroyed and a dozen persons injured. Four residences were demolished at Mexia, and all the members of the family of A. B. Shanks were injured, one of them probably fatally. In Arkansas the town of Pastoria and Elberton were the worst sufferers, numbers of houses being blown down at both places. In Pastoria two children were killed and a boy and a woman dangerously hurt. All points in western Missouri and eastern Kansas report heavy rain and high water, inundating thousands of acres of farm lands.

At St. Louis the Mississippi river is rising rapidly. The danger line is thirty feet, and the river Monday registered over two feet eight feet the high water mark in the great flood year of 1877. In East St. Louis Mayor Silas Cook secured a large force of men and the building of dikes was at once begun.

A heavy wind and rain storm swept central and western Kentucky Monday, causing property loss of nearly $200,000. So far as known no lives were lost. Buildings were destroyed at Paris, Carlisle, Paducah and Owensboro, and in the country hundreds of tobacco barns were demolished.

MAY FORM A BIG NATION.

Possibilities of American Union Among the Latin American Republics. The war between Russia and Japan may be the means of bringing about a United States of South America, says a South American diplomat, now stationed at Washington. The mere suggestion that Russia and Japan may not be the only powers involved in the war before it is over has served to call attention to the fact that once the United States got into it her navy would not be sufficient to enforce the Monroe doctrine, and then "Where would it be?" As the situation is, the United States has practically no navy. Without the protecting influence of the United States, perhaps we would long ago have been the prey of European powers.

To-day the South Americans fear a new alignment of the world powers. Congress is actually believing that the United States will in any way become mixed up in the eastern complications to such an extent that she will be called on to fight, but the mere bringing of this possibility into view has had its effect in alarming the most public spirited South Americans to action.

As strains pointing to this significant change of feeling may be mentioned the vigorous effort which was made by certain statesmen in the Peruvian Congress, recently adjourned, to authorize the negotiating of a loan of several millions, the purpose of which was for naval equipment and coast defense. The measure was finally defeated.
